About Gateway Health

Gateway Health is a not-for-profit company limited by guarantee and a registered Community Health Service under the Health Services Act 1998 (Vic).

We provide community health and wellbeing services to individuals, families and communities across North East Victoria and parts of Southern New South Wales.

We deliver services from facilities in Wodonga, Wangaratta, Myrtleford and Benalla, and through outreach to rural communities across the region. Service delivery also includes the use of telehealth.

We provide services across the lifespan, from childhood to becoming a parent, adulthood and older age.

Many of these services provide a link between hospital care, aged care and community care across other health and welfare organisations. We work to ensure connected care between services and providers.
